BAROK QUARTET (BAROK QUARTET)

Barok was first described as a religious musical genre that allows those studying lyrics and music of church programmes which may be accompanied by singing (lyrics) or instruments (solo). The genre is a common source of the repertoire of many churches. The genre differs from the general church music because Barok Brothers get beyond the formal musical rules of the Renaissance movement to show that our music is not the goal but is meant to express the lyrics.
 Barok composition often by well-known composers (e.g. Bach) is a blend with our contemporary for solo, solo, group, church, contemporary and lyrics. Barok is a genre that is often described by combining the two styles of music. It contains elements which will vary from each other, including:
